Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Relate information about health and healthy habits in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What is the best remedy you know?
- Where did it come from? Your parents? Your grandparents?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about common health problems.
- I can explore causes and solutions.
- I can give and respond to advice.
- I can ask and give directions.

Let's Explore!

Is Vanessa feeling better? Let's find out!

* To "feel better" means you are not sick anymore.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Aunt Nelly: How are you feeling, dear?
Vanessa: I'm better. Thanks to the ginger ale.
Aunt Nelly: Yes, ginger is a natural remedy.
Vanessa: Mmhmm. I'm going to the pharmacy to get some antacid.
Aunt Nelly: You should get more rest, dear.
Vanessa: Mmhmm. How do I get to the pharmacy from here?
Aunt Nelly: Hang a right and then a quick left at the lights.
Vanessa: And then?
Aunt Nelly: At the mall, at the corner, go through the revolving doors. The pharmacy is on your right.
Vanessa: Sounds tricky.
Aunt Nelly: Could you pick up some peppermint tea for me, please? I think I have a stomach ache, too!
Vanessa: Oh, no! It's possible it's the mochi I bought today!
Aunt Nelly: You should return it!
Vanessa: Oh, a text from John! Where is he now?

Let's Practice!

It's possible you need to practice your speaking.

Instructions: Read the sentences. Check your pronunciation with your instructor. Create a dialogue using the following expressions.

1. You should get more rest, dear.
2. You should return it!
3. It's possible it's the mochi I bought today!
4. You should go to the pharmacy.
5. Thanks to the ginger ale.

Let's Practice!

- It's possible it's the sushi.
- Are you sure it's the chocolate?

Learning Points

Common Health Problems and Giving Advice

These are some common health problems. When you talk about health problems, you usually use nouns.

What are some remedies or treatments for these problems in your country?

Health Problem	Meaning
Stomachache	A pain in your stomach
Headache	A pain in your head
Earache	A pain your ear
Sore throat	A pain in your throat
A cold	A common sickness caused by a virus.
The flu	A serious sickness caused by a virus
Toothache	A pain in your tooth
Backache	A pain in your back
Cramp	A sharp pain in a muscle

You use modals like should and must to give advice.

You can use should to give some "soft" advice. You think its a good idea, but it is not absolutely necessary.

You can use must to give very strong advice. You think it is very important.

Examples:

- You should get some rest.
- You must sleep more.
- You should drink this tea.
- You must take the medicine.
